Along the coast, where the light feels softer and the days move slower, everything tastes a little better. It begins with the sound of waves, the warmth in the air, the joy of being at the table. Here in Izmir we follow that feeling. The soft rhythm of a long lunch and joy of a shared table. What we serve is rooted in where we are and shaped by the Mediterranean way of gathering, tasting and living well. Bright, fresh, honest. Ripe tomatoes that taste like July, bread still warm from the oven, olive oil that catches the light just right. It is not the food alone you take with you but the feeling of a sunlit table, voices overlapping and time gently falling away. This is a place where meals turn into moments, where you forget the time but remember the feeling.

We call it ESCA.
